South Point Arena and Equestrian Center welcomes Liam MacCall as events manager to oversee the day-to-day event management of the country's top equestrian facility.

MacCall's professional background and expertise in supervising daily operations for staff and events showcases his natural ability to manage the unique and demanding nature of the industry. In his new role, MacCall is responsible for overseeing arena event operations, including planning, coordinating and implementing event logistics.

Prior to joining the South Point team, MacCall served as a grassroots manager at MassMedia Corporate Communications. During his time with MassMedia Corporate Communications, MacCall helped manage the day-to-day marketing, grassroots events and communications campaigns while assisting with corporate event sponsorship. MacCall has also serviced as a research assistant for the Nevada State Democratic Party and a communications intern for Rory Reid for Governor.

"South Point Arena and Equestrian Center caters to a unique assortment of events throughout the year," said Steve Stallworth, general manager of South Point Arena and Equestrian Center. "Liam offers a fresh outlook and brings a strong background in managing and promoting events, which will allow us to expand our services while bringing new events to Las Vegas."

Having received a bachelor's degree in political science and a master's in public administration from University of Nevada, Las Vegas in 2011, MacCall joins the South Point team with an understanding of Las Vegas' unique event and entertainment industry and brings the experience and skills needed as an events manager.
